Juniors To Venture Drama Presentation

TWELVE ANGRY JURORS will be presented on April 21-22. The Junior Class play is under the direction of Mr. Gordon Bohl.

The scene of the drama remains in the jury room throughout the entire play. It is a relatively tense drama in the sense that the audience never meets the young boy whose life or death is being decided by the jurors.

Tryouts for the play were held on March 30 and April 4. The cast is made up of twelve jurors. This year there will be a split cast; that is, six of the characters will be played by two different people on different nights. The foreman will be played by Rosanne Lunzman. Janet Way and Terry Rohlfs will take the part of the seconjuror. The third jurywoman will be played by Paula Pankratz and Rita Silins. The fourth juror will be portrayed by Debra Harr and Leah Geuke. Belinda Rave, Brenda Miller, and Marla Schmidt will play the parts of the fifth, sixth and seventh jurywoman, respectively.

The eighth juror will be played by Kathy Nuhsbaumer and Bill Betten, Carol Ellis will take the part of the ninth jurywoman. Barb Brand and LeAnn Kleinsaser were chosen as the tenth juror. Completing the cast are Lois Allbee and Ron Appletoft as the eleventh juror and the twelftiguryman will be portrayed by Bill Zahn. Student directors chosen were Kathy Wilson and Kevin Boschee.

Students Turn Down Change In Voting; Council Sets Dates

Student body campaigns will actively begin on April 17. Registration for voting will be held April 19-21.

At the March 29 meeting of RHS's Student Council, a discussion was held to determine whether or not eighth graders should be allowed to vote. Various members felt that since the eighth graders will be in high school next year, they should have the right to vote for next year's officers. Also in favor of eighth graders' voting was that it would give them a chance to participate in high school activities. Other opinions expressed were that they felt the eighth graders' didn't

FHA'ers Cop Area Honors

Eight area schools participated in the Region VII FHA meeting on March 28 in Miller. Two members of the Redfield delegation returned with honors from the affair.

Patty Miesen, RHS sophomore, was elected to the position of region secretary-treasurer. She will succeed outgoing officer Marla Schmidt, junior. Debby Jones, senior, took the third-place award in the regional South Dakota Beef Cook-off Contest.

The delegation worked under a theme of "Growing 2-gether" at the meeting. A new state project, C.A.R.E., was introduced.

know the candidates well enough or would vote for whomever their friends did. Also, they haven't had any experience in high school functions.

The motion was brought before the student body and was voted on. The motion failed, lacking the necessary two-thirds majority by a substantial number.

Students are reminded that in order to vote, they must be registered. The candidates will give their platform and endorsement speeches on April 26. The time allowed each party will be determined later. Voting will be $h\epsilon$ on April 27-28, with the results reported during the last period on April 28.

Girls Staters, Alternates

Redfield's Girls' State representatives were recently chosen by the American Legion Auxiliary. Sitting are, from left, Kathy Nuhsbaumer, alternate; Rita Silins, representative; and Shelly Lunney, representative. Standing are Roseanne Jungwirth, Rockham, representative; and Joan Benning, alternate. The girls will travel to Dakota Wesleyan University in Mitchell during the week of June 4-10. through June 10 on the Dakota Wesleyan Campus in Mitchell. Joan Benning and Kathy Nuhsbaumer are the alternates. The American Legion Auxiliary

The American Legion Auxiliary sponsors this week-long event. In order to be chosen, each girl has to be in the top one-third of her class and be completing her junior year. She also must have shown qualities of leadership in her school, in her church, and in her home, and be actively exercising these talents.

The purpose of Girls State is to bring a knowledge of the fundamental principles of American Government. This is done throughout actual practice by giving each girl an active part in government. Throughout the week, the girls will also learn the responsibilities as citizens and gain an understanding of the problems of government.

Rita is very active in debate, and she is on the yearbook staff. She is a member of Future Nurses Club, Pep Club, and Drama Club. Shelley is an office girl and is a member of AFS and FHA. Rose-anne's activities include being a student aid, librarian and she is a member of Pep Club.

Editorially Speaking...

High School Should Develop Objectivity

In one of his government classes Mr. Sam Willits remarked, "Our chances for change are as limited as our viewpoint." While Mr. Willits was referring to county government, we can apply this statement to almost all aspects of life.

If we accept existing methods as the best way of doing things, we will never improve. Nor will we advance if we term present methods "adequate." We will better ourselves only if we approach change favorably.

This is not to say that all change is good. On the contrary, acceptance of each innovation just because it is new is as foolish as rejecting all but the familiar.

We must train our minds to investigate proposed changes. If we find the change to be advantageous, we can implement it. If not, we can modify or reject the plan.

Just as reading, using the library, and adding are basic skills, so is this objective thinking. Since we learn basic skills in school, it follows that our high school should play a major role in the development of objective thinking.

Although it is easier to learn facts rather than concepts, students must take the extra effort or their high school education will be irrelevant to their future lives. As individual students, we learn what we desire to learn.

We must adopt responsible thinking as one of our high school goals. Why should we limit our chances for change by such a fickle thing as our viewpoint?

AFS'er Contrasts Habits

Having just gone through Easter here, I thought that I would attempt to compare the Easter here with Easter at home.

One main difference I noticed was the lack of chocolate Easter eggs in the stores and the great abundance of Easter cards. At home most shops are full of special Easter sweets and toys which sell fast even though they usually appear in the shops near the end of

Like here, over the Easter weekend there are many special church services. These are usually highly decorative and formal, but there few inter-denominational meetings. Nearly everybody goes to his own church.

School has a great deal of the atmosphere of Easter with special assemblies in the mornings of the week before the vacation. There is also the jovial air of a school which is looking forward to a good break. For Easter we have a three week holiday, which is greatly appreciated by all, espe-cially the fifth and sixth formers (the school leavers). When the fifth and sixth formers come back after Easter, they start taking mock national exams; for these they have to know most of the work they have done in all their years in secondary school. Letter To The Editor...

Eighth Grade Should Vote

Last Friday, RHS students voted on the issue of eighth graders voting in student body elections. On the surface, this may sound unimportant, but a closer look may show a different viewpoint.

Certainly, there is reluctance to extend this privilege that we did not have. But in making an honest decision, we must determine the rights and responsibilities involved.

In looking at the rights of eighth graders, it seems logical that they be allowed to vote. In the upcoming election, the officers will be those of the 1972-73 school year, so the officers should be elected by the student body of 1972-73, at least as nearly as it can be determined. Considering that eighth graders will constitute roughly one-fourth of the student body the following year, it would seem that they should be represented. The policies that will be carried out should reflect that whole student body's wishes, not just threefourths of it.

The responsibility of eighth graders comes under much criticism, but with opponents' claiming that the election would result in a popularity contest. It is said that these students don't know the candidates well enough to vote intelligently. But, in looking at the elections as they are now, one can say that they are little more than a popularity contest as it is, and that is mainly because the students know the candidates, and are consequently biased.

The Redfield trackmen traveled to Pierre for a dual meet April 7. The results of that meet, however, were not available for the printing of this issue.

Coach Ken Greeno's thinclads began the track season in fine fashion by capturing a triangular meet at Redfield on April 5. The Pheasants amassed 981/2 points in defeating Conde, who had 56 points, and Northwestern with 26½ points for the title.

Kevin Boschee turned in a fine performance by winning the 100 yard dash, snaring second in the 220 yard dash, and competing on two winning Redfield relay teams. Other runners earning individual titles were Don Zundel in the mile, Rod Hardie in the 440 yard dash, and Mark Baus in the two mile run.

The Pheasants also nailed down winning times in the 880 yard and medley relays. Members of the 880 team were Boschee, Dean Jankord, Eric Flint, and Steve Raebel. Boschee, Jankord, Hardie, and Zundel made up the victorious medley relay team.

Tracksters from Redfield also came up with two wins in the field events. Sophomore Steve Betten hurled the discus 1201/2 feet to garner the top spot in that event, and pole vaulter Lonnie Robertson went nine feet, five and threequarter inches to capture that

Keys Trample Faculty, Girls

Key Clubbers enjoyed a double basketball victory on March 28. In the first game, the Key Club defeated the Keyettes 18-14, and dumped the faculty 63-58 in the second contest.

The Keys had to wear a boxing glove and a patch over one eye in the first game. The handicaps didn't bother the Keys as they raced to a 14-2 halftime lead, and eased to a 18-14 victory.

In the second game, the faculty led 29-28 at the half, but the Keyrallied in the second half to win 63-58. Steve Raebel and Ruas Bat tey paced the Keys, as they count ed 16 and 13 points, respectively Mr. Sam Willits had 16 points and Mr. Lonnie Scriver had 14 point to lead the faculty.

The Redfield Key Club will have two candidates this year. Randy Bush will be vying for governor, and Paul Patterson will be running for secretary. Also attending from Redfield are John Weisflock, Reed Siegling, Kevin Gaulrapp, Steve Jones, and Tom Moon. Steve and Tom will function as delegates.

The event is expected to attract from 200-300 young men from outside the Fargo area. Besides the election of officers, highlights include featured speakers and competition among the clubs for awards based on service activity during the year.

Keynote speaker for the event will be Jim Conzelman, counseling Belfore, past Human Rights Com-International trustee. Mr. Conrad missioner of Minnesota, headlines the Theme Luncheon. Dr. Hiram M. Drache, a humorist, and Mr. Vern Heckner, Kiwanis District Governor, will also be speaking at the convention.

Activities begin Friday night with the opening session. Division caucuses for the candidates follow. Saturday is filled with more caucuses and workshops on the various aspects of Key Clubbing. The Governor's Banquet and Ball rounds out the day. The House of Delegates is first on the schedule for Sunday. Here the officers are elected and resolutions are voted on. A banquet for the outgoing and newly-elected officers closes the convention activities. Contest winners are announced at the
